Joe Coors Hope House Classic Raises $228,000

The Joe Coors Hope House Classic, held at The Sanctuary on Thursday, July 27, 2017, raised $228,000 for Hope House of Colorado, a nonprofit organization that offers free self-sufficiency and educational programs for teen moms in the Denver-metro area. Over a dozen members of the Coors family attended in honor of the legacy Joe Coors created at Hope House, which began when he joined the organization's original Advisory Committee in 2004.

Hope House, a nonprofit organization that offers free self-sufficiency programs to parenting teen moms, is on track to serve 180 teen moms and 250 children this year. For more information, see hopehouseofcolorado.org.
